Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was a prolific composer of the classical era. Born on 27 January 1756 in Salzburg, Mozart showed extraordinary ability early in his childhood.

Already competent on the keyboard and violin, he composed from a very young age and performed before European royalty. At seventeen, Mozart was engaged as a musician at the Salzburg court but became restless and travelled in search of a desired position.

(17)

(18)

After that, he chose to stay in Vienna, the capital, where he achieved fame. Mozart is said to have written the overture for Don Giovanni in a single night, the night before the opera's first public appearance. It is believed that he could compose symphonies in his mind and at times did not put pen to paper until he had completed the entire piece in his mind first. Despite the wet ink on the opera's music sheet from its last minute copying and lack of time for rehearsal, all went well.

(19)

Water Is Precious

Nanyang Academy & Garden Asia Kids Present...

What better way to spend your December holidays?

Pitter Patter Camp for children from 8 to 12 years old

PITTER PATTER – the sound of waterfall and the sound of excited little footsteps.

This year, we wander into the world of water, a natural resource so precious to Singapore. We have planned a series of excursions and activities for the children to learn and experience various aspects of water, and how it is vital in our daily lives. A camp not to be missed!

World Without Water

@ Nanyang Academy

Nanyang Academy hopes to create a positive social behavioural change. Short for Community Corp, "ComCorp" brings the community and corporations together through sustainable efforts of urban farming. Participants will experience the basics of gardening and reaping the fruits of their labour.

Water Wonders

@ Garden Asia Kids

Ice-Cream Making Workshop
(by Soyato)

Made in Singapore, this is a new form of premium frozen dessert. Because it is made of soy milk, Soyato is low in fat and cholesterol; high in protein and calcium. Participants will learn how this idea is derived from Japan!

Waterworks

@ Scape

Recycled Plastic Art

An initiative by The Living Project, Luminance! is Singapore's first youth art light festival that showcases original creations by local artists. The key element of sustainability reiterates our unique presence at SCAPE. Participants will work on a recycled plastic art masterpiece that will be put on display at Luminance!

Fun with Water

@ Singapore Science Centre

With more than ten galleries that cover topics from Mathematics and Science to Technology, participants will widen their imagination to explore the endless possibilities of water conservation.

Usefulness of Water @ Marina Barrage

Here, participants will go on a guided tour of the Sustainable Singapore Gallery, learning about our country's efforts towards environmental sustainability through innovative and fun multimedia.

"We want people to lead active and meaningful lives," said Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong. Singapore's first retirement kampong in Woodlands – bringing together public housing for seniors (29) _____ healthcare, wellness and eldercare facilities – was officially opened yesterday.

The 11-storey Kampung Admiralty is the first Housing Development Board project to co-locate childcare (30) _____ senior centres under one development, aimed (31) _____ encouraging inter-generational bonding. At the launch, Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong said, "This is a small kampong that is modest in scale (32) _____ bold in ambition. We will make it succeed and (33) _____ it's successful, we will build more kampongs like this." The pilot project (34) _____ conceived more than four years ago (35) _____ recognition of Singapore's ageing population.

HDB has sought to develop new designs for the elderly population, and build flats, common areas and neighbourhoods (36) _____ promote strong social support and community bonding. The facilities at Kampung Admiralty (37) _____ meant to encourage seniors to step out of their homes and socialise with their neighbours and friends. "I've tended to the gardens in this area for (38) _____ 20 years," said retiree, Oh Kee Swee, 62. He is among those already enjoying the new facilities.

Section F: Editing For Spelling and Grammar (12 marks)

Each of the underlined words contains either a spelling or grammatical error. Write the correct word in each of the boxes.

(39)

Dawan walked home, deep in thoughts. She aproched her house haltingly. She (40)

heard the fameelier sounds of her mother singing tunelessly to the baby, and of chickens

(41)

clucking and they pecked the dirt underneath the stilts of the house. "Is Kwai home yet,

(42)

Grandma?" Dawan asked, carefully putting away her old schoolbag on a low workbench.

(43)

(44)

Grandmother, sprinkled millets for the chickens and watching Dawan's father repairs the chicken coop, glanced at her grandchild. The old woman was about to answer when

(45)

Dawan's mother walked out, her baby balanced komfortably on one hip. She called out to her daughter, "Dawan, will you be a good girl and help me to ..." But Dawan was not listening. She gazed beyond the fields at her brother sitting under tall tree and sighed.

(46)

(47)

"Child, is there anything wrong?" asked her sharp-eyed grandmother. Dawan skeratched her knee. A million thoughts raced in her mind. She wished she did not have to fight for the chance to persue her studies. She hated konfrontasions. Dawan tried to speak, but no words came out. Fear had chained them.

(49)

(50)

Section G: Comprehension Cloze (15 marks)

Fill in each blank with a suitable word.

A strange noise brought Alistair fully awake. He (51) _____ heavy breathing and plodding footsteps. They were moving towards him. Craning his (52) _____, he made out a set of enormous curving horns and the vast bulk of the last animal he had expected to see – a Cape buffalo! Alistair thought, "A lone bull buffalo is one of the (53) _____ feared and treacherous animals in Africa."

Standing a distance away in the clearing, it (54) _____ its muzzle to catch Alistair's scent. Its enormous horns spanned more than one metre. He knew that one hook of those horns could send a man (55) _____ into the air. Alistair also knew that the hunting world was full of stories of hunters gored or (56) _____ to death by these behemoths. Unable to run, Alistair sat up painfully and lobbed a stone, (57) _____ the beast on the head. But it merely shook its head as if bothered by a fly and stepped nearer. It gazed at Alistair before it carefully folded its front legs and (58) _____ a grunting sigh, plopped down its great (59) _____.

Astonished, Alistair (60) _____ as the buffalo placidly chewed cud, its gaze fixed in the same direction that Alistair had been watching all night. After puzzling (61) _____ it for some time, Alistair came to realise that the buffalo was actually guarding him! He wondered if he was benefiting from an extraordinary instance of one animal (62) _____ its life to help another being. Whatever the reason, Alistair was thankful.

Suddenly, the buffalo lurched to its (63) _____ and ran off, crashing through the scrub. Alistair became alert instantly. Squinting into the brilliant light on the river, Alistair counted four figures. Help eventually reached him that dawn.

After (64) _____ from his injuries months later, Alistair returned to work as a guide but with a renewed (65) _____ of wonder. He says, "After being injured and stranded, a buffalo helped me survive. I don't suppose anyone will ever be able to explain that act of mercy – something I'll never forget."

Section I: Open-Ended Comprehension (20 marks)

Read the passage below and answer questions 71 to 80.

As a civil engineer, Lim Suet Fong is used to planning and directing others to construct buildings. However, she has found herself getting her hands dirty building hospitals and septic tanks.

Lim, 39, is a volunteer with the humanitarian group 'Doctors Without Borders'. When asked about her motivation for joining the group, Lim said, "It's just the feeling you get when you watch the news about these places and you know something can be done to make people's lives better."

She signed up to be a field worker in 2009, and when a call came in 2010 offering her the role in a mission, the Singaporean agreed readily. "I didn't even know where it was to, but they later told me it was to South Sudan," said Lim, who then resigned from her job at a local company. Getting to South Sudan involved weeks of preparations and briefings.

Lim had never been on any kind of volunteer trips. "I didn't know what to expect. I tried to imagine what the work would be like based on images from the news. But I did not imagine the reality of life there. It was 45 degrees Celsius outside; you were in the middle of nowhere and there was no power or necessities."

When she reached her accommodation and saw her bedroom, she burst into tears. "My bed was there, along with a kitchen sink and a cabinet. I looked at it and thought to myself, 'What should I do?'"

"But I got over it. And the next time I cried was when I was leaving South Sudan because I was already missing the place and the people."

Lim never feared for her safety despite the unstable political climate and hostile situations during her missions. She arrived in South Sudan shortly before the independence vote where it separated from the North after decades of conflict driven by religious and ethnic divides.

When she was in Afghanistan, which was experiencing armed conflict, she could hear the sounds of blasting and bombing nearby.

To reassure her family at home, Lim made sure to call them often. "But I never really told them exactly what was going on because I didn't want them to worry."

She said the field workers' movements were confined to the base, hospital and main city, which were relatively safe. Moreover, the hospitals and their compounds have a strictly no-weapons policy.
"But, I always knew at the back of my mind that the situation was volatile."          In Afghanistan in December 2011, for the first time Lim witnessed an explosion occur close to a market in Kunduz. People with blast-related injuries, started streaming into the hospital. "You suddenly realise the reason you're there," she said. "I see injured civilians being rushed into the hospitals that we've built and leave after they're well with smiles on their faces."	35
Some things Lim has learnt to appreciate are the simple conveniences of a developed country like Singapore, such as toilets that flush. "We have to dig trenches for the filtration system," said Lim, who returned to Singapore in late 2011.	40
While she has readjusted to "normal" life and returned to work almost immediately, she hopes to go back to the field. "A lot of people thought I have sacrificed a lot. The fact is that I have gained a lot more than what I have given. The friendship, the experience, even the opportunity to realise that the world is far from perfect, are things I've gained. There is still a lot of work to be done."	45
"It's true that people don't thank us directly. But as a logistics person, you're working in the background. I know I have done my job when the medical operations go smoothly. A good logistics team is successful when people don't know you exist. It means nothing went wrong during the mission."	50
Adapted from The Straits Times, 'Volunteer Happy to be in the Background', 28 May 2018

71. What was Lim's occupation before she became a volunteer? [1m]

72. According to Lim, what were the two incidents that made her cry? [2m]

---

73. List the two safety conditions that were provided for the field workers. [2m]

(i) _____

(ii) _____

74. Look at the table below. What do you think the words in the left column refer to in the passage? Write your answers in the column on the right. The first one has been done for you. [2m]

Word from the passage	What the word refers to
there (line 15)	South Sudan
agreed (line 9)
it (line 20)

75. Write 1, 2 and 3 in the blanks below to indicate the order in which the events occurred in the story. [1m]

	Lim experienced and witnessed political unrest.
	Lim found employment in Singapore in 2011.
	Lim imagined what volunteer work was like while watching news.

76. For each of the words below, choose a word/phrase from the passage which has similar meaning to it. [3m]

flooding
restricted
lodging

77. What did Lim experience that reaffirmed her belief in being a volunteer? [2m]

_____

_____

78. Based on the passage, state whether each statement in the table below is true or false. Then give one reason from the passage to support your answer. [3m]

	True/False	Reason
Lim found life in South Sudan inconvenient.
Lim felt that she had sacrificed a lot in order to be a volunteer.
Lim knew that she situation was volatile when she was volunteering in Afghanistan.

79. Based on the passage, what does the phrase 'never feared for her safety' (Line 23) tell us about the type of person Lim is and how did she stop her family from worrying too much about her? [2m]

80. In the last paragraph, did Lim feel that she had fulfilled her role in the mission well? Support your answer with evidence from the passage. [2m]
